

Debrief after each Instant Challenge

ALWAYS be sure to Debrief at the end of each IC or set of ICs.

Keep your questions friendly and not judgmental (defer judgement).

Allow the TEAM to answer the questions and draw their own conclusions.

For today, we encourage parents to join in the discussion if it helps the kids to get their brains moving :)

Ten Important Questions to ask after every Instant Challenge:

1. How do you think you did as a team? What did you learn about teamwork from doing this Instant Challenge?
2. How well did you manage your time? How might you have used your time more efficiently?
3. What were some strengths of your solution? What worked well?
4. If you were to start the Challenge over again, what might you do differently?
5. Did your team members have jobs? If so, which ones? If not, which ones might you have used? Would this have helped in solving the challenge?

6. How well do you feel you utilized the materials you were given? How might you have used the materials differently? Were there materials you did NOT use? Why? How might these materials have been used?
7. How well did you create your solution to fit the emphasis in the scoring? Would you do anything differently?
8. If your solution did not work, what could you have done to make the solution work?
9. Could your solution have been more creative, novel, or unique? What might you have done to make that happen?
10. Finally, most important: WHAT DID YOU LEARN?
